

2010 Sauvignon Blanc

Sonoma County

Vineyard Profile

Crinella Marino Vineyard, Russian River Valley

With a long, cool growing season, the cool climate of the Russian River Valley keeps wines crisp while allowing the natural character of the climate to shine through. The picturesque Crinella Marino vineyard is located in one of the warmer areas of the Russian River Valley and experiences less rain and weather challenges than many other sites in the region.

The grapes offer a combination of a sophisticated Sancerre of the Loire Valley and the grassier New Zealand selections. This is a California wine for a Sauvignon Blanc enthusiast.

Winemaker Notes

This wine has complex aromatics with an emphasis on grapefruit blossoms, minerality and herbal notes. Flavors start with a focused minerality with herbal notes leading to a round mid-palate and a lingering finish with racy acidity.
