

2013 Sauvignon Blanc

Russian River Valley, Sonoma County

Vineyard Profile

Crinella Marino Vineyard, Russian River Valley

With a long, cool growing season, the cool climate of the Russian River Valley keeps wines crisp while allowing the natural character of the climate to shine through. The picturesque Crinella Marino vineyard is located in one of the warmer areas of the Russian River Valley and experiences less rain and weather challenges than many other sites in the region.

The grapes offer a combination of a sophisticated Sancerre of the Loire Valley and the grassier New Zealand selections. This is a California wine for a Sauvignon Blanc enthusiast.

Winemaker Notes

Lush and tropical, this Sauvignon Blanc gushes with the ripeness of the vintage, offering notes of honeydew, lychee, Bosc pears and Meyer lemons with exotic underpinnings of sweet ginger, vanilla spice and lemongrass. Light bodied and refreshingly crisp, the ripe, abundant fruitiness is firmly anchored by citrusy acidity and mineral undertones.
