

2014 Sauvignon Blanc

Russian River Valley, Sonoma County

Vineyard Profile

Crinella Marino Vineyard, Russian River Valley

With a long, cool growing season, the cool climate of the Russian River Valley keeps wines crisp while allowing the natural character of the climate to shine through. The picturesque Crinella Marino vineyard is located in one of the warmer areas of the Russian River Valley and experiences less rain and weather challenges than many other sites in the region.

The grapes offer a combination of a sophisticated Sancerre of the Loire Valley and the grassier New Zealand selections. This is a California wine for a Sauvignon Blanc enthusiast.

Winemaker Notes

Pale straw gold in color, the 2014 Sauvignon Blanc is the sum of three distinct parts. At first, bold citrus and tropical notes dominate: Meyer lemon, grapefruit, lychee, honeydew melon, pineapple and kiwi. Secondary notes balance the fruit with lemongrass, clover and a hint of sweet ginger. Tertiary flavors of wet rock, shortbread and vanilla round the palette and draw the juicy tropical notes through the finish. The bright acidity brings focus to the lush citrus and ripe fruit notes while finishing with bright key lime and stony minerality.
